Outlook

- The Covid-19 pandemic is still creating some uncertainty surrounding developments in both Norway and the global economy. However, that uncertainty has now significantly decreased due to vaccination programs being well under way in both Norway and internationally, and the economy having stabilised and gained a year's experience of coping with the pandemic. The Norwegian state is particularly well-equipped to contribute economically. Extensive measures aimed at both the retail and corporate sector has been effectuated, although reduced investment levels and moderate demand for business loans are expected.
- Norges Bank has cut its policy rate by 1.50 percentage points to 0.0%. The policy rate is expected to increase from the end of 2021 and gradually rise during 2022.
- SpareBank 1 SR-Bank's long-term target is a minimum return on equity of 12%, but as a consequence of the Covid-19 outbreak, target for 2021 is set to 11%.
- SpareBank 1 SR-Bank's focus on digitalization and automation has enabled almost all of the group's employees to work from home office. Customers have been looked after in an efficient and satisfactory manner.
- Given its solid financial position, the group is very well equipped to tackle crises and this will help to ensure that the SpareBank1 SR-Bank Group remains a solid financial group after the Covid-19 outbreak ends as well.
- Geographic expansion, digitalization and growth will transform SpareBank 1 SR-Bank from a regional savings bank to a bank for the whole of Southern Norway.
